NORTH CHARLEROI TO USE RENTED ROOMS FOR SCHOOL

New Building Will Not be Ready to Occupy for Some Months

MORE MONEY IS NEEDED

Special Election on Bond Issue Matter Announced for September 9

Arrangements have been made by the North Charleroi school board for holding school in rooms in various parts of the borough pending the completion of the new school building now in course of construction. School will open on September 11. It is the desire of the members of the school board and of the contractor as well to have the new building completed by the first of the year, but it is hardly likely that the structure will be ready at that time for use.

Two rooms have been arranged in Library hall. Previously school was held in one room there. There have also been two rooms rented in city hall building, and an effort will be made to secure temporarily use of the Firemen's room. Another room has been rented over Metz's store.

L. B. Hornbake, of California is the principal of the North Charleroi schools, and will join with the directors in making arrangements for the opening of school.

Work on the new building is progressing as rapidly as could be expected under the circumstances. To begin with the excavating was interfered with by the presence of hard limestone rock and it required considerable blasting to remove it. This required several weeks Now the foundation is being laid and it will not be long until brick work is started.

A special election has been announced to be held at North Charleroi on September 9 at which time the voters of that borough will vote upon the matter of increasing the indebtedness of the borough to $24,000 to provide sufficient funds for the election of the school building. One bond issue caried last fall for $22,000, but that amount was not enough it seems to provide for the construction of a building of the kind needed. The increase asked for is only $2,000 and it is thought it will pass.

Coal Shipments Are Still Shy

River Trade Above July Standard But Short That of Other Months

Coal trade along the Monongahela valley is very ordinary this month, although there is a slight improvement over that of July. The average shipments through Lock No. 4 would probably not exceed 350,000 bushels of coal a day. The Vesta company is the heaviest river shipper at present.

CHARGED WITH KILLING WOMAN

August Wentz Arrested at Monongahela After Three Months Freedom

MURDER AFTER DEBAUCH

August Wentz, aged 35, a butcher, suspected of the brutal murder of Blanche Hepner, aged 36, last May 31, was taken to Monongahela Tuesday by Acting Chief of Police Henry Bergmann and was sent to the Westmoreland County jail at Greensburg.

Wentz and the Hepner woman are said to have resided together at California, Pa., for nearly a year, and about May 20 last she left him following a quarrel. She went to the home of friends, Mr. and Mrs. John Stevenson, at Webster, Westmoreland county. Her whereabouts, it is said, was unknown to Wentz for several days and when he finally located her, it is alleged he went to the Stevenson home to persuade her to return to California with him. When she refused, it is said, he drew a butcher knife from under his coat and almost severed the woman's head. He ran from the house, it is alleged and disappeared, all efforts to locate him proving futile.

RELATIVES TO CONTEST WILL

Fifteen Persons Enter Court to Begin Fight for Phillips Money

A sensation was sprung when 15 relatives of Elizabeth Phillips, aged 73 years of West Pike township, who died March 31, last year, went into court Tuesday to try and break the will of the dead woman who left her estate, valued at $500,000 to Charles Miller, aged 30 years, who was employed by the dead woman. A hearing was set for September 12.

The relatives allege that Miller used "unique undue" influence with the dead woman. Miller is also executor of the will, which was probated April 16, last year. The action is brought by Albert A. Hill, Jerome F. Hill, Mary M. Kyle and 12 other relatives of the dead woman.

QUEER ERROR FOUND IN SCHOOL ELECTION

Belle Vernon Directors With Three Teachers Under Age Engaged for Term Are in Quandry as to What to Do

SCHOOL CODE PASSED THIS YEAR MADE CHANGE

School directors of Belle Vernon borough are in a quandary as to what methods ta take for supplying substitute teachers for three rooms of the school until mid term. There are three teachers elected to teach in the three rooms in question but they are under the age limit set by the new school code for teachers.

By the new school code it is necessary for teachers to be 18 years old This week the discovery was made that the school board of Belle Vernon had erred in electing three teachers who would not be of age until the latter part of this year. They are Miss Marie Steen and Miss Nora Graham of Belle Vernon and Miss Jennie Ferguson of North Belle Vernon. All are graduates of the California Normal class of 1911.

One of the teachers will be 18 years old in October, another in November and another in December. The matter will probably be settled temporarily by allowing the three girls to appoint their substitutes to teach until they become of age.

NEW POLICEMEN NOW AT DONORA

Investigation of Charges of Fire Chief Results in Dismissal

With the exception of one member, Donora will have a new police force as the result of action by the borough council Tuesday night. Charges of gross irregularities, neglect of duty, extortion, receiving bribes, drunkenness, slander, aiding prisoners to escape, forcible entry and protection of gamblers and gambling houses were among the charges which had been filed against Chief of Police Robert Sickles and other members of the police department.

These charges were made by J. B. McCune, chief of the fire department of Donora. The council at its meeting Tuesday night accepted the resignation of Chief Sickles, John McCabe, patrolman and George Staley, patrolman, before the investigation was completed. The police committee recommended the appointment of John Rader of McKeesport as chief of police. Rader has been on the McKeesport police force for the last five years.

Strong Production to Appear Here Next Week as First Attraction

Anne Caldwell's newest play, "The Nest Egg," in which Miss Lois Frances Clark is being starred this season, will be given its first presentation here at the Coyle Theatre next Wednesday, August 30.

A splendid cast headed by Miss Lois Frances Clark, the well known character actress of power and versatility, will present this new American comedy.

BEATS TARIFF REVISION.

Washington, the county seat, has made a progressive movement that Charleroi will do well to follow This is the enactment of an ordinance to regulate weights and measures, which will compel all dealers in foodstuffs and the commodities of life to adopt and conform to the standard of this State.

This is a reform which if enacted and enforced will effect more of a saving to the consumers than would the revision of the tariff. Under the guise of weights and measures—or at least an assumed standard—short weight packages, boxes, cans, jars and bottles are sold in vast numbers to the consumers which make an increase in the cost of living that is wholly unwarranted. This, however, cannot be regulated by borough ordinance, but the latter can make all scales used in the borough, all measures and all paper sacks that are supposed to hold certain quantities conform to the legal standard.

When this is done then the people can agitate for a State law to compel the registration of correct weights and measures on all packages and receptacles used to contain food products. That will save more money for the people than all the tariff revision that can be made.

MURDER WILL OUT.

It is a noteworthy fact that two murderers whose crimes were committed in this county or in the river district, and who had every opportunity, apparently, to escape the consequences of their acts, have been recently apprehended. One of them had for fourteen years evaded the authorities, only to be apprehended at last. The other was a fugitive for more than three months, but by some strange fatuity could not remain away from the scene of his crime and was therefore captured. Once again is the old saying verified, "Murder will out."

Those who have made criminal case a study assert that no crime is ever committed that does not leave evidence enough with which to trace the perpetrator. No matter how carefully preparations may be made before and after the commission of the crime, some little thing is either done or undone that leaves a clue with which to unravel the crime. This has been verified time and again, and although some crimes apparently escape detection, it is because of indifference in following up evidence, or lack of means to carry out a search, which is sure to come with detection if persisted in long enough. Many crimes are detected and brought to light years afterwards, when those who were familiar with the details are either dead or absent from the scene.

Murder will out, and so will the consequences of any and all misdeeds inevitable follow their commission. The law of compensation which may also act in a retributive sense evens up all things in the whirligig of time, and the only way to escape this retribution is to avoid the snares and pitfalls which tend to lure men and women from the paths of rectitude.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

"There used to be some funny things happen in the early days of railroading," said an old time railroader the other day, who is now on the retired list. "In the good old days of individual competition, when railroads were built promiscupusly and lines paralleled without regard to traffic requirement, the management was conducted in much the same manner as the roads were built. The heaviest stockholders had the pull, and had their friends and relatives appointed to responsible positions without regard to fitness or ability. Some curious complications used to arise, as well as some exceedingly funny situations.

"I remebmber one small road where they used to change the superintendents about every new moon, and the latter used to make a clean sweep of all the subordinates, so that the trainmen never knew who were their superiors. One day when a new superintendent had taken charge, a middle aged man who knew absolutely nothing about railroading, but had been a successful business man, he went out into the yards to make a personal inspection of things.

"Noticing some cars on a siding with flattened wheels, he accosted a switchman with this question:

"'What makes those wheels flat?'

"The switchman, who did not know the questioner was on official, and indeed had no reason to from the nature of the question, gravely replied:

"'They've been loaded heavily and stood too long in one place.'

"'I'll see about that! I'll see about that!' blustered the new super, and thereupon he rushed back to the office and had the following order indicted:

"'Hereafter all loaded cars must not be permitted to stand on sidings more than 24 hours without being moved in order to prevent the wheels from flattening.'

"You can imagine the merriment among the trainmen when the order was posted."

"This is said to have happened on the Pennsylvania in Harisburg in the early seventies," continued the ex-railroader. "A division superintendent there had risen to his position without traveling from the cinder pile up, but was really an efficient man because of his rare executive ability. He knew little of technical terms, but kept a sharp eye on the time scedules and the efficiency of his equipment. With him there was no excuse for mishaps, and the slightest complaint about equipment brought forth the command, 'Take it to the shop and get it fixed.'

"One day, after one of the main passenger trains had been coming in late for several days he called the engineer on the carpet, and demanded to know why he had lost time regularly on his run, when he had started on schedule time.

"'Engine in bad shape,' responded the engineer.

"'What's the matter with it?' demanded the super.

"'Lost motion of the ash pan.'

"'Well, take it to the shop and get it fixed.'"

An Immense Flower.

The largest of all the flowers of the world is said to be the Raffesia, a native of Sumatra, so called after Sir Stamford Raffles This immense flower is composed of five round petals of a brickish color, each measuring a foot across. These are covered with numerous irregular yellowish white swellings.

The petals surround a cup nearly a foot wide, the margin of which bears the stamens. The cup of the Raffesia is filled with a fleshy disk, the upper surface of which is covered with projections like miniature cows' horns. The cup when free from its contents will hold about twelve pints. The flower weighs about fifteen pounds and is very thick, the petals being three-quarters of an inch.—Scientific American.

First Calculating Machine.

The first calculating machine was invented and constructed by Blaise Pascal, a Frenchman, in 1642, in which year he was but nineteen years of age. It was made by him with the aid of one workman and was presented to the chancellor of France. During the revolution it was found in a junk shop at Bordeaux and at present is the property of M. Bougouin of that city. All of the four simple mathematical operations can be made with it.

Proposed amendments to the Constitution submitted to the citizens of this Commonwealth for their approval or rejection, by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and published by order of the Secretary of the Commonwealth, in pursuance of Article XVIII of the Constitution.

Number One.

A JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, so as to consolidate the courts of common pleas of Allegheny County.

Section 1. Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, That the following amendment to the Constitution of Pennsylvania be, and the same is hereby, proposed, in accordance with the eighteenth article thereof:—

That section six of article five be amended, by striking out the said section, and inserting in place thereof the following:

Section 6. In the county of Philadelphia all the jurisdiction and powers now vested in the district courts and courts of common pleas, subject to such changes as may be made by this Constitution or by law, shall be in Philadelphia vested in five distinct and separate courts of equal and co-ordinate jurisdiction, composed of three judges each. The said courts in Philadelphia shall be designated respectively as the court of common pleas number one, number two, number three, number four, and number five, but the number of said courts may be by law increased, from time to time, and shall be in like manner designated by successive numbers. The number of judges in any of said courts, or in any county where the establishment of an additional court may be authorized by law, may be increased, from time to time, and whenever such increase shall amount in the whole to three, such three judges shall compose a distinct and separate court as aforesaid, which shall be numbered as aforesaid. In Philadelphia all suits shall be instituted in the said courts of common pleas without designating the number of the said court, and the several courts shall distribute and apportion the business among them in such manner as shall be provided by rules of court, and each court, to which any suit shall be thus assigned, shall have exclusive jurisdiction thereof, subject to change of venue, as shall be provided by law.

In the county of Allegheny all the jurisdiction and powers now vested in the several numbered courts of common pleas shall be vested in one court of common pleas, composed of all the judges in commission in said courts. Such jurisdiction and powers shall extend to all proceedings at law and in equity which shall have been instituted in the several numbered courts, and shall be subject to such changes as may be made by law, and subject to change of venue as provided by law. The president judge of said court shall be selected as provided by law. The number of judges in said court may be by law increased from time to time. This amendment shall take effect on the first day of January succeeding its adoption.

Section 2. Amend section eight, article nine, of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, which reads as follows:—

"Section 8. The debt of any county, city, borough, township, school district, or other municipality or incorporated district, except as herein provided, shall never exceed seven per centum upon the assessed value of the taxable property therein, nor shall any such municipality or district incur any new debt, or increase its indebtedness to an amount exceeding two per centum upon such assessed valuation of property, without the assent of the electors thereof at a public election in such manner as shall be provided by law, but any city, the debt of which now exceeds seven per centum of such assessed valuation, may be authorized by law to increase the same three per centum, in the aggregate, at any one time, upon such valuation," so as to read as follows:—

Section 8. The debt of any county, city, borough, township, school district, or other municipality or incorporated district, except as herein provided, shall never exceed seven per centum upon the assessed value of the taxable property therein, nor shall any such municipality or district incur any new debt, or increase its indebtedness to an amount exceeding two per centum upon such assessed valuation of property, without the assent of the electors thereof at a public election in such manner as shall be provided by law, but any city, the debt of which now exceeds seven per centum of such assessed valuation, may be authorized by law to increase the same three per centum, in the aggregate, at any one time, upon such valuation, except that any debt or debts hereinafter incurred by the city and county of Philadelphia for the construction and development of subways for transit purposes, or for the construction of wharves and docks, or the reclamation of land to be used in the construction of a system of wharves and docks, as public improvements, owned or to be owned by said city and county of Philadelphia, and which shall yield to the city and county of Philadelphia current net revenue in excess of the interest on said debt or debts and of the annual installments necessary for the cancellation of said debt or debts, may be excluded in ascertaining the power of the city and county of Philadelphia to become otherwise indebted: Provided, That a sinking fund for their cancellation shall be established and maintained.

It matters not how old, persistent or poisonous the sore is, San Cura Ointment, the powerful antiseptic will draw out every particle of poison and promptly heal the sore.

So sure of this are the owners, the Thompson Medical Co., that they have authorized W. F. Henning's to return the purchase price if San Cura Oinament doesn't do all this paper says it will do. No fairer offer was ever made.

B. D. Dutton, Titusville, Pa., says: "My arm was covered with twenty-four running sores and swollen to twice its natural size: San Cura Ointment removed the pain, drew out the poison and healed the arm in an incredibly short time. It is the greatest compound for healing I ever used."

The mighty healing powers of San Cura Ointment are little short of marvelous. It gives instant relief, and is guaranteed to cure salt rheum eczema, bleeding, itching, or protruding piles, ulcers, boils, carbuncles, chapped hands and chilblains. For cuts, burns, and bruises and scalds, it stops all pain quickly and heals promptly. 25 c and 50 c a jar. By mail on receipt of price, if your druggist is out of it or does not keep it.

Louis' Compliment to Conde.

One need not overlook the enormous shortcomings of Louis XIV. as a man and as a king to admit that in some important respects he "tried to do his duty." He was a hardworking sovereign both in the sphere of administration and in that social sphere which was, to his mind, no less important. So courteous that he never passed the poorest woman about the palace without lifting his hat, he carried polite consideration to the level of a fine art. In the way of courteous speech there are few things nobler than his remark to the great Conde as the old hero was slowly ascending the great marble staircase at Versailles. Conde apologized for being so long in mounting the steps, at the top of which the king stood waiting. "Ah, cousin," Louis replied, "one moves slowly when one is laden with laurels."

Objected to the Publicity.

Man's instinctive and perfectly reasonable preference for reprimand delivered in private is illustrated by a story told by Lieutenant General Sir William Butler, G. C. B., in his "Autobiography."

A general commanding at Aldershot had been forcibly reprimanded by a royal commander in chief. He openly rebelled.

"I don't mind being called a fool," he said, "if it pleases your royal highness to call me so, but I do mind being called a fool before your royal highness' other fools," sweeping his hand toward the commander in chief's large and brilliant staff.

Sympathetic.

"By ginger!" roared Blithers wrathfully when his son informed him that he had flunked at college. "I'm blest if I know what to say. I"—

"I sympathize with you, dad," said Blithers, Jr., feelingly. "That's just the way it was with me when they asked me those blasted questions at examination!"—Harper's Weekly.

Wanted His Money's Worth.

Customer—I say, Mr. Barber, I don't hear your scissors at work on my hair. Barber (apologetically)—There is very little hair on your head, sir. Customer—That makes no difference. I pay my money and I want you to rattle the scissors on the bald place just the same as if I had hair on it.

Cause for Grief.

George, aged 3½, was very cross and his wails louder than usual one day made his mother ask impatiently, "George, what in the world makes you cry?" With an injured catch in his voice George replied, "You would cry, too, if you hit the crazy bone in your head as I did."

First Meal of the Day.

Breakfast is, before all things, a respectable meal. One cannot imagine a man or woman who is always down punctually to breakfast being other than a highly reputable member of society. A dinner may be frivolous, a supper may be hilarious, but a breakfast is always staid and solemn and conductive to the building up of a sound and sensible character.

Inquisitive Tommy.

An infirm old gentleman was visiting Tommy's family, and Tommy unfortunately had heard mention of one of the guest's peculiarities. Planting himself directly in front of his unhappy elder he sweetly inquired: "Which is your glass eye, Mr. Blankton? The one that moves, or the one that stands still?"

Considerable Lobster.

The largest lobster taken off the Maine coast for a number of years was caught recently by the Portland fishing steamer Carrie and Mildred. The crustacean weighed a strong seven pounds and was nearly three feet in length. The legs were nearly as large as the claws of an ordinary lobster, while the claws were huge affairs.

A Grewsome Weapon.

A certain English family owns a stiletto which inspires every one who holds it with a horrible and almost irresistible desire to kill some woman. This weapon belonged to an ancestor whose wife deceived him and drove him mad. He swore revenge against the whole sex, and with the dagger killed his wife, his wife's sister and another woman before he was disarmed and secured.

His Idea of Economy.

His Wife—"But don't you think joining the golf club is rather an extravagance?" "Not if we economize in other ways. I thought we might give up our pew in church."—Life.

Only Use He Could [illegible]

"Why are people so anxious to [illegible] the south pole?"

"It'll save a lot of money when they do."

"How?"

"There won't be any more expeditions to look for it them."—Stray Stories.

Does Your Backache?

If you are a woman and you have this symptom get Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound without delay.

Backache seems an invention of the evil one to try woman's souls. Only those who suffer this way can understand the wearing, ceaseless misery.

We ask all such women to read the following letter for proof that Mrs. Pinkham's medicine cures backache caused by woman's diseases.

Morton's Gap, Kentucky.—"I suffered two years with female disorders, my health was very bad and I had a continual backache which was simply awful. I could not stand on my feet long enough to cook a meal's victuals without my back nearly killing me, and I would have such dragging sensations I could hardly bear it. I had soreness on each side, could not stand tight clothing, and was irregular. I was completely run down. On advice I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills and am enjoying good health. It is now more than two years and I have not had an ache or pain since. I do all my own work, washing and everything, and never have the backache any more. I think your medicine is grand and I praise it to all my neighbors. If you think my testimony will help others you may publish it."—Mrs. Ollie Woodall, Morton's Gap, Kentucky.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has made thousands of cures of such cases. You notice we say has cured thousands of cases. That means that we are telling you that it has done, not what we think it will do. We are stating facts, not guesses.

We challenge the world to name another remedy for woman's ills which has been so successful or received so many testimonials as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health free of charge. Address Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

SLUGGING MATCH ENDS FAVORABLY TO BELLE VERNON

Belle Vernon pulled down the colors of the team representing Charleroi Wednesday evening on the local ground by slugging the ball on all possible occasions. The score was 12 to 6 at the end of the scramble.

Belle Vernon batted first and had scored four runs before the Charleroi team had hardly collected itself, to do this requiring five hits. Charleroi scored three in their half of the first on two hits. Both teams scored in the fourth. Belle Vernon got two runs on three hits and Charleroi's share was one. In the fifth the visitors captured one run through a base on balls, a sacrifiece hit and an error.

The locals completed their scoring in the sixth by getting two runs around. These came on a two base hit an error and a stolen base.

Belle Vernon postponed action until the eighth inning when through two hits they got one run. In the ninth they managed to slug the ball four times safely and scored the same number of runs. Score:

In the case of W. M. Hart, the California merchant who was tried at Washington Wednesday charged with violating the pure food laws, the jury brought in a verdict of not guilty, but decreed that the defendant pay the costs. NORTH CHARLEROI TO USE RENTED ROOMS FOR SCHOOL

MORE MONEY IS NEEDED

Special Election on Bond Issue Matter Announced for September 9

Arrangements have been made by the North Charleroi school board for holding school in rooms in various parts of the borough pending the completion of the new school building now in course of construction. School will open on September 11. It is the desire of the members of the school board and of the contractor as well to have the new building completed by the first of the year, but it is hardly likely that the structure will be ready at that time for use.

Two rooms have been arranged in Library hall. Previously school was held in one room there. There have also been two rooms rented in city hall building, and an effort will be made to secure temporarily use of the Firemen's room. Another room has been rented over Metz's store.

L. B. Hornbake, of California is the principal of the North Charleroi schools, and will join with the directors in making arfangements for the opening of school.

Work on the new building is processing as rapidly as could be expected under the circumstances. To begin with the excavating was interfered with by the presence of hard limestone rock and it required considerable blasting to remove it. This required several weeks. Now the foundation is being laid and it will not be long until brick work is start-

A special election has been announced to be held at North Charleroi on September 9 at which time the voters of that borough will vote upon the matter of increasing the indebtedness of the borough to $24,000 to provide sufficient funds for the election of the school building. One bond issue was tried last fall for $22,000, but that amount was not enough it seems to provide for the construction of a building of the kind needed. The increase asked for is only $2,000 and it is thought it will pass.

Coal Shipments Are Still Shy

River Trade Above July Standard But Short That of Other Months

Coal trade along the Monongahela valley is very ordinary this month, although there is a slight improvement over that of July. The average shipments through Lock No. 4 would probably not exceed 350,000 bushels of coal a day. The Vesta company is the heaviest river shipper at present.

CHARGED WITH KILLING WOMAN

August Wentz Arrested at Monongahela After Three Months Freedom

MURDER AFTER DEBAUCH

August Wentz, aged 35, a butcher, suspected of the brutal murder of Blanche Hepner, aged 36, last May 31, was taken to Monongahela Tuesday by Acting Chief of Police Henry Bergmann and was sent to the Westmoreland County jail at Greensburg.

Wentz and the Hepner woman are said to have resided together at California, Pa., for nearly a year, and about May 20 last she left him following a quarrel. She went to the home of friends, Mr. and Mrs. John Stevenson, at Webster, Westmoreland county. Her whereabouts, it is said, was unknown to Wentz for several days and when he finally located her, it is alleged he went to the Stevenson home to persuade her to return to California with him. When she refused, it is said, he drew a butcher knife from under his coat and almost severed the woman's head. He ran from the house, it is alleged and disappeared, all efforts to locate him proving futile.

RELATIVES TO CONTEST WILL

Fifteen Persons Enter Court to Begin Fight for Phillips Money

A sensation was sprung when 15 relatives of Elizabeth Phillips, aged 78 years of West Pike township, who died March 31, last year, went into court Tuesday to try and break the will of the dead woman who left her estate, valued at $500,000 to Charles Miller, aged 30 years, who was employed by the dead woman. A hearing was set for September 12.

The relatives allege that Miller used "unique undue" influence with the dead woman. Miller is also executor of the will, which was probated April 16, last year. The action is brought by Albert A. Hill, Jerome F. Hill, Mary M. Kyle and 12 other relatives of the dead woman.

Anthony Bronder Expires After Day's Suffering at Pittsburg Hospital Where He Was Taken Tuesday Morning

HAD LEG HORRIBLY CRUSHED AND HIS BODY BRUISED

After suffering a little more than a day from injuries received in a fall of slate at the Crombie mine on the hill, Anthony Bronder, aged 28 years 4 months and 12 days, died at the Mercy hospital in Pittsburg at 12.30 o'clock Wednesday.

Bronder while at work in the mine on Thursday morning was caught in a heavy fall of slate. His right side was the worst injured and his right leg was horribly mangled and crushed between the ankle and the knee. His right shoulder and the right side of his body were also much injured. Loss of blood from the wounded right leg together with the shock resulted in his death.

The body was brought home Wednesday afternoon. The widow, Mrs. Mary E. Bronder, nee Riley, a brother Peter, of Pittsburg and two sisters Mrs. John Riley of Charleroi and a sister at Philadelphia survive. High mass of requiem will be held at 9 o'clock at St. Jerome's Catholic church on Friday morning. The body will be taken to Pittsburg on the train leaving Charleroi at 10:24, for interment in St. Michael's Cemetery. The deceased was formerly a resident of Mount Oliver. He was a member of Charleroi order, Knights of St. George.

QUEER ERROR FOUND IN SCHOOL ELECTION

Belle Vernon Directors With Three Teachers Under Age Engaged for Term Are in Quandry as to What to Do

SCHOOL CODE PASSED THIS YEAR MADE CHANGE

School directors of Belle Vernon borough are in a quandary as to what methods ta take for supplying substitute teachers for three rooms of the school until mid term. There are three teachers elected to teach in the three rooms in question but they are under the age limit set by the new school code for teachers.

By the new school code it is necessary for teachers to be 18 years old This week the discovery was made that the school board of Belle Vernon had erred in electing three teachers who would not be of age until the latter part of this year. They are Miss Marie Steen and Miss Nora Graham of Belle Vernon and Miss Jennie Ferguson of North Belle Vernon. All are graduates of the California Normal class of 1911.

One of the teachers will be 18 years old in October, another in November and another in December. The matter will probably be settled temporarily by allowing the three girls to appoint their substitutes to teach until they become of age.

NEW POLICEMEN NOW AT DONORA

Investigation of Charges of Fire Chief Results in Dismissal

With the exception of one member, Donora will have a new police force as the result of action by the borough council Tuesday night. Charges of gross irregularities, neglect of duty, extortion, receiving bribes, drunkenness, slander, aiding prisoners to escape, forcible entry and protection of gamblers and gambling houses were among the charges which had been filed against Chief of Police Robert Sickles and other members of the police department.

These charges were made by J. B. McCune, chief of the fire department of Donora. The council at its meeting Tuesday night accepted the resignation of Chief Sickles, John McCabe, patrolman and George Staley, patrolman, before the investigation was completed. The police committee recommended the appointment of John Rader of McKeesport as chief of police. Rader has been on the McKeesport police force for the last five years.

COPLE THEATRE TO OPEN PLAY SEASON

Strong Production to Appear Here Next Week as First Attraction

Anne Caldwell's newest play, "The Nest Egg," in which Miss Lois Frances Clark is being starred this season, will be given its first presentation here at the Coyle Theatre next Wednesday, August 30.

There is heart interest, and a unique story with many ludicrous situations, so it is said. The characters and the scenes are types well known in literature, and that the originality of the portrayal of these types give freshness and life to the production.

A splendid cast headed by Miss Lois Frances Clark, the well known character actress of power and versatility, will present this new American comedy.

BEATS TARIFF REVISION.

Washington, the county seat, has made a progressive movement that Charleroi will do well to follow This is the enactment of an ordinance to regulate weights and measures, which will compel all dealers in foodstuffs and the commodities of life to adopt and conform to the standard of this State.

This is a reform which if enacted and enforced will effect more of a saving to the consumers than would the revision of the tariff. Under the guise of weights and measures—or at least an assumed standard—short weight packages, boxes, cans, jars and bottles are sold in vast numbers to the consumers which make an increase in the cost of living that is wholly unwarranted. This, however, cannot be regulated by borough ordinance, but the latter can make all scales used in the borough, all measures and all paper sacks that are supposed to hold certain quantities conform to the legal standard.

When this is done then the people can agitate for a State law to compel the registration of correct weights and measures on all packages and receptacles used to contain food products. That will save more money for the people than all the tariff revision that can be made.

MURDER WILL OUT.

It is a noteworthy fact that two murderers whose crimes were committed in this county or in the river district, and who had every opportunity, apparently, to escape the consequences of their acts, have been recently apprehended. One of them had for fourteen years evaded the authorities, only to be apprehended at last. The other was a fugitive for more than three months, but by some strange fatuity could not remain away from the scene of his crime and was therefore captured. Once again is the old saying verified, "Murder will out."

Those who have made criminal case a study assert that no crime is ever committed that does not leave evidence enough with which to trace the perpetrator. No matter how carefully preparations may be made before and after the commission of the crime, some little thing is either done or undone that leaves a clue with which to unravel the crime. This has been verified time and again, and although some crimes apparently escape detection, it is because of indifference in following up evidence, or lack of means to carry out a search, which is sure to come with detection if persisted in long enough. Many crimes are detected and brought to light years afterwards, when those who were familiar with the details are either dead or absent from the scene.

Murder will out, and so will the consequences of any and all misdeeds inevitable follow their commission. The law of compensation which may also act in a retributive sense evens up all things in the whirligig of time, and the only way to escape this retribution is to avoid the snares and pitfalls which tend to lure men and women from the paths of rectitude.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

"There used to be some funny things happen in the early days of railroading," said an old time railroader the other day, who is now on the retired list. "In the good old days of individual competition, when railroads were built promiscupusly and lines paralleled without regard to traffic requirement, the management was conducted in much the same manner as the roads were built. The heaviest stockholders had the pull, and had their friends and relatives appointed to responsible positions without regard to fitness or ability. Some curious complications used to arise, as well as some exceedingly funny situations.

"I remember one small road where they used to change the superintendents about every new moon, and the latter used to make a clean sweep of all the subordinates, so that the trainmen never knew who were their superiors. One day when a new superintendent had taken charge, a middle aged man who knew absolutely nothing about railroading, but had been a successful business man, he went out into the yards to make a personal inspection of things.

"Noticing some cars on a siding with flattened wheels, he accosted a switchman with this question:

"'What makes those wheels flat?'

"The switchman, who did not know the questioner was on official, and indeed had no reason to from the nature of the question, gravely replied:

"'They've been loaded heavily and stood too long in one place.'

"'I'll see about that! I'll see about that!' blustered the new super, and thereupon he rushed back to the office and had the following order indicted:

"'Hereafter all loaded care must not be permitted to stand on sidings more than 24 hours without being moved in order to prevent the wheels from flattening.'

"You can imagine the merriment among the trainmen when the order was posted."

"This is said to have happened on the Pennsylvania in Harisburg in the early seventies," continued the ex-railroader. "A division superintendent there had risen to his position without traveling from the cinder pile up, but was really an efficient man because of his rare executive ability. He knew little of technical terms, but kept a sharp eye on the time scedules and the efficiency of his equipment. With him there was no excuse for mishaps, and the slightest complaint about equipment brought forth the command, 'Take it to the shop and get it fixed.'

"One day after one of the main passenger trains had been coming in late for several days he called the engineer on the carpet, and demanded to know why he had lost time regularly on his run, when he had started on schedule time.

"'Engine in bad shape,' responded the engineer.

"'What's the matter with it?' demanded the super.

"'Lost motion of the ash pan.'

"'Well, take it to the shop and get it fixed.'"

An Immense Flower.

The largest of all the flowers of the world is said to be the Rafflesia, a native of Sumatra, so called after Sir Stamford Raffles. This immense flower is composed of five round petals of a brickish color, each measuring a foot across. These are covered with numerous irregular yellowish white swellings.

The petals surround a cup nearly a foot wide, the margin of which bears the stamens. The cup of the Rafflesia is filled with a fleshy disk, the upper surface of which is covered with projections like miniature cows' horns. The cup when free from its contents will hold about twelve pints. The flower weighs about fifteen pounds and is very thick, the petals being three-quarters of an inch.—Scientific American.

First Calculating Machine.

The first calculating machine was invented and constructed by Blaise Pascal, a Frenchman, in 1642, in which year he was but nineteen years of age. It was made by him with the aid of one workman and was presented to the chancellor of France. During the revolution it was found in a junk shop at Bordeaux and at present is the property of M. Bougouin of that city. All of the four simple mathematical operations can be made with it.

All About the Pig.

A little boy's first composition was about a pig. This is the way he wrote it: "Pigs are very queer animals The pig has its uses. Our dog don't like pigs. His name is Nero. The said courts in Philadelphia shall be designated respectively as the court of common pleas number one, number two, number three, number four, and number five, but the number of said courts may be by law increased, from time to time, and shall be in like manner designated by successive numbers. The number of judges in any of said courts or in any county where the establishment of an additional court may be authorized by law, may be increased, from time to time, and whenever such increase shall amount in the whole to three, such three judges shall compose a distinct and separate court as aforesaid, which shall be numbered as aforesaid. In Philadelphia all suits shall be instituted in the said courts of common pleas without designating the number of the said court, and the several courts shall distribute and apportion the business among them in such manner as shall be provided by rules of court, and each court, to which any suit shall be thus assigned, shall have exclusive jurisdiction thereof, subject to change of venue, as shall be provided by law.

In the county of Allegheny all the jurisdiction and powers now vested in the several numbered courts of common pleas shall be vested in one court of common pleas, composed of all the judges in commission in said courts. Such jurisdiction and powers shall extend to all proceedings at law and in equity which shall have been instituted in the several numbered courts, and shall be subject to such changes as may be made by law, and subject to change of venue as provided by law. The president judge of said court shall be selected as provided by law. The number of judges in said court may be by law increased from time to time. This amendment shall take effect on the first day of January succeeding its adoption.

"Section 8. The debt of any county, city, borough, township, school district, or other municipality or incorporated district, except as herein provided, shall never exceed seven per centum upon the assessed value of the taxable property therein, nor shall any such municipality or district incur any new debt, or increase its indebtedness to an amount exceeding two per centum upon such assessed valuation of property, without the assent of the electors thereof at a public election in such manner as shall be provided by law; but any city, the debt of which now exceeds seven per centum of such assessed valuation, may be authorized by law to increase the same three per centum, in the aggregate, at any one time, upon such valuation," so as to read as follows:—

NO MORE RUNNING SORES

W. F. Henning's Sells an Ointment Called San Cura That is a Positive Cure.

It matters not how old, persistent or poisonous the sore is, San Cura Ointment, the powerful antiseptic will draw out every particle of poison and promptly heal the sore.

So sure of this are the owners, the Thompson Medical Co., that they have authorized W. F. Henning's to return the purchase price if San Cura Ointment doesn't do all this paper says it will do. No fairer offer was ever made.

B. D. Dutton, Titusville, Pa., says: "My arm was covered with twenty-four running sores and swollen to twice its natural size. San Cura Ointment removed the pain, drew out the poison and healed the arm in an incredibly short time. It is the greatest compound for healing I ever used."

The mighty healing powers of San Cura Ointment are little short of marvelous. It gives instant relief, and is guaranteed to cure salt rheum eczema, bleeding, itching, or protruding piles, ulcers, boils, carbuncles, chapped hands and chilblains. For cuts, burns, and bruises and scalds, it stops all pain quickly and heals promptly. 25 c and 50 c a jar. By mail on receipt of price, if your druggist is out of it or does not keep it.

San Cura Soap.

For tender, itching or iritable skin wash with San Cura the only antiseptic soap that soothes and heals, and kills all germs of diseases. It will cure pimples, blackheads and make the complexion clear and attractive. 25c at W. F. Hennings'.

Louis' Compliment to Conde.

One need not overlook the enormous shortcomings of Louis XIV. as a man and as a king to admit that in some important respects he "tried to do his duty." He was a hardworking sovereign both in the sphere of administration and in that social sphere which was, to his mind, no less important. So courteous that he never passed the poorest woman about the palace without lifting his hat, he carried polite consideration to the level of a fine art. In the way of courteous speech there are few things nobler than his remark to the great Conde as the old hero was slowly ascending the great marble staircase at Versailles. Conde apologized for being so long in mounting the steps, at the top of which the king stood waiting. "Ah, cousin," Louis replied, "one moves slowly when one is laden with laurels."

Objected to the Publicity.

Man's instinctive and perfectly reasonable preference for reprimand delivered in private is illustrated by a story told by Lieutenant General Sir William Butler, G. C. B., in his "Autobiography."

A general commanding at Aldershot had been forcibly reprimanded by a royal commander in chief. He openly rebelled.

"I don't mind being called a fool," he said, "if it pleases your royal highness to call me so, but I do mind being called a fool before your royal highness' other fools," sweeping his hand toward the commander in chief's large and brilliant staff.

Sympathetic.

"By ginger!" roared Blithers wrathfully when his son informed him that he had flunked at college. "I'm blest if I know what to say. I"—

"I sympathize with you, dad," said Blithers, Jr., feelingly. "That's just the way it was with me when they asked me those blasted questions at examination!"—Harper's Weekly.

Wanted His Money's Worth.

Customer—I say, Mr. Barber, I don't hear your scissors at work on my hair. Barber (apologetically)—There is very little hair on your head, sir. Customer—That makes no difference. I pay my money and I want you to rattle the scissors on the bald place just the same as if I had hair on it.

Cause for Grief.

George, aged 3½, was very cross and his wails louder than usual one day made his mother ask impatiently, "George, what in the world makes you cry?" With an injured catch in his voice George replied, "You would cry, too, if you hit the crazy bone in your head as I did."

First Meal of the Day.

Breakfast is, before all things, a respectable meal. One cannot imagine a man or woman who is always down punctually to breakfast being other than a highly reputable member of society. A dinner may be frivolous, a supper may be hilarious, but a breakfast is always staid and solemn and conductive to the building up of a sound and sensible character.

Inquisitive Tommy.

An infirm old gentleman was visiting Tommy's family, and Tommy unfortunately had heard mention of one of the guest's peculiarities. Planting himself directly in front of his unhappy elder he sweetly inquired: "Which is your glass eye, Mr. Blankton? The one that moves, or the one that stands still?"

Considerable Lobster.

The largest lobster taken off the Maine coast for a number of years was caught recently by the Portland fishing steamer Carrie and Mildred. The crustacean weighed a strong seven pounds and was nearly three feet in length. The legs were nearly as large as the claws of an ordinary lobster, while the claws were huge affairs.

A Grewsome Weapon.

A certain English family owns a stiletto which inspires every one who holds it with a horrible and almost irresistible desire to kill some woman. This weapon belonged to an ancestor whose wife deceived him and drove him mad. He swore revenge against the whole sex, and with the dagger killed his wife, his wife's sister and another woman before he was disarmed and secured.

His Idea of Economy.

His Wife—"But don't you think joining the golf club is rather an extravagance?" "Not if we economize in other ways. I thought we might give up our pew in church."—Life.

Only Use He Could ...

"Why are people so anxious to ... the south pole?"

"It'll save a lot of money when they do."

"How?"

"There won't be any more expeditions to look for it them."—Stray Stories.

Does Your Backache?

If you are a woman and you have this symptom get Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound without delay.

Backache seems an invention of the evil one to try woman's souls. Only those who suffer this way can understand the wearing, ceaseless misery.

We ask all such women to read the following letter for proof that Mrs. Pinkham's medicine cures backache caused by woman's diseases.

Morton's Gap, Kentucky.—"I suffered two years with female disorders, my health was very bad and I had a continual backache which was simply awful. I could not stand on my feet long enough to cook a meal's victuals without my back nearly killing me, and I would have such dragging sensations I could hardly bear it. I had soreness on each side, could not stand tight clothing, and was irregular. I was completely run down. On advice I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills and am enjoying good health. It is now more than two years and I have not had an ache or pain since. I do all my own work, washing and everything, and never have the backache any more. I think your medicine is grand and I praise it to all my neighbors. If you think my testimony will help others you may publish it."—Mrs. Ollie Woodall, Morton's Gap, Kentucky.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has made thousands of cures of such cases. You notice we say has cured thousands of cases. That means that we are telling you that it has done, not what we think it will do. We are stating facts, not guesses.

We challenge the world to name another remedy for woman's ills which has been so successful or received so many testimonials as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health free of charge. Address Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

SLUGGING MATCH ENDS FAVORABLY TO BELLE VERNON

Belle Vernon pulled down the colors of the team representing Charleroi Wednesday evening on the local ground by slugging the ball on all possible occasions. The score was 12 to 6 at the end of the scramble.

Belle Vernon batted first and had scored four runs before the Charleroi team had hardly collected itself, to do this requiring five hits. Charleroi scored three in their half of the first on two hits. Both teams scored in the fourth. Belle Vernon got two runs on three hits and Charleroi's share was one. In the fifth the visitors captured one run through a base on balls, a sacrifiece hit and an error.

The locals completed their scoring in the sixth by getting two runs around. These came on a two base hit an error and a stolen base.

Belle Vernon postponed action until the eighth inning when through two hits they got one run. In the ninth they managed to slug the ball four times safely and scored the same number of runs. Score:

HART NOT GUILTY BUT PAYS COSTS

In the case of W. M. Hart, the California merchant who was tried at Washington Wednesday charged with violating the pure food laws, the jury brought in a verdict of not guilty, but decreed that the defendant pay the costs. There was a conflict of testimony, the private chemist testifying that lard sold by Hart was not pure swine fat, while the Pittsburg firm from which the lard was purchased testified that government inspectors pronounced their product pure.
